DEATH IN THE DESERT.

The Terrible Experience of a Young Mexi-SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Sept. 5 .- News comes from San Diego of the terrible death on San Felipe desert, in Lower California, of a young Mexican named Benite Cesena and the narrow escape of a Chinaman from the same fate. They became separated from a prospecting party and wandered off on the desert.

Their mules died, and after enduring horrible torture from thirst the two men reached the Gulf of California. Cesena fell down, unable to proceed further, but the Chinaman made a raft and reached a schooner lying off shore. When the crew landed they found Cesena dead. They were in sight of water, but did not know how to reach it.

RUDDERLESS AT SEA. The Uncomfortable Experiences of Passen gers on the Dubbledam.

London, Sept. 5.—The Dubbledam, bound from Amsterdam to New York, has put into Plymouth disabled. The Dubbledam has fifty-three cabin and 353 steerage passengers. She three cabin and 353 steerage passengers. She reports that from August 28 to August 30 she encountered strong westerly winds and heavy seas. At 3:15 a.m. on August 30

she struck something that was un-doubtedly floating wreckage. The side of the steamer was scraped and her rudder came in contact with the wreckage and was damaged, so that it subsequently broke adrift damaged, so that it subsequently broke adrift and was lost. Long hawsers were thrown out over the stern to act as drags in keeping the steamer head on to the sea, but this expedient failed of its object and the vessel lurched to and was seen lying in the trough of the sea. She rolled heavily and took much water on board, a quantity of it finding its way below into the saloen and storage.

For thirty hours she lay at the mercy of the sea, and the passengers, to say nothing of the exceedingly uncomfortable position in which they found themselves, were filled with great anxiety as to the outcome of the voyage. Sea after sea swept over the decks, causing much damage to the small boats.

On the morning of September 1 a jury steering gear was rigged and the steamer stood upon her course for New York. The weather con-tinued heavy, however, and Capt. Potjer de-

THREE MEN IN A BOAT. One of Them Was a Madman Bent on

London, Sept. 5 .- A startling story is telegraphed to this city from Deal Kent, a seaside town near the southern extremity of the of Warsaw, the capital of Russian Poland, have Downs, eight miles from Dover. According to the report received loud cries for help, mingled with oaths and curses, were heard early this morning some distance seaward and almost directly off the town of Deal. Two local policemen immediately entered a boat and put to sea in order to inquire into the mysterious cries. The police, however, had been preceded and distanced by two Deal boatmen, who also went to the rescue. The boatmen found a boat of the ship G. L. Waters and witnessed a horrible fight which was going on in the small craft. Crouching in the stern of the boat was her captain, holding a little boy in his left arm, and a young sailor, both desperately defending them—

The markets this morning were all more or the strack of another man. The latter, according to the boatmen, was an ath-letic seaman mad drunk, who was attacking the captain and the young sailor with his sheath knife. Upon the approach of the boatmen the drunken seaman threw the oars overboard, attacked them with his knife and refused to allow them to rescue the occupants of the small boat. The mad seaman beat off the boatmen and later on also beat off the police who came upon the scene. The result was that the ship's boat was allowed to drift away in the mist and eventually tisappeared.

Later in the day search for the drifting boat and its occupants was renewed, but up to this hour (3 p.m.) nothing has been received from Deal on the subject.

The first series began on September 3 and consisted of the maneuvers of army corps against army corps. The second series, or "period," will last until September 9, inclusive, and will consist of a five days battle between Gen. de Gelliffe t and Gen. Davout, under the supreme direction of Gen. Saussier, the military vernor of Paris, who has already been desig nated as the probable commander-in-chief of the French armies in case of war. The final battle will take place on Wednesday around Vendeuvre, thirteen miles from Bar-sur-Aube. The plan is as follows: General de Galliffet in command of the fifth and sixth army corps, strengthened by a division of cavalry, a brigade of marine infantry and a balloon corps, is holding Brienne and its neighborhood. The commander-in-chief, Gen. Henry Clews in his Financial Review issued oday says the upward movement which started in so energetically several weeks ago continued to hold full sway during the early part of the present week, the result being another sharp advance in nearly all the prominent shares; but at this juncture the long-looked-for reaction made its appearance, and the most successful bull campaign seen for many a day was brought temporarily to a halt, and the bears for the first time in five weeks were allowed to take an inning. When it is taken into consideration the enormous advance which has taken place in such stocks as C., B. and Q., R. L., Lake Shore, Mo. Pacific, Northern Pacific preferred, and in fact all the prominent shares actively traded in, it is not surprising that the market should receive a setick; but on the other hand, to have been able to stand the strain of moving in one direction for such a long period, notwithstanding free realizings from time to time, clearly demontrates the good quality of the market and the improved condition of affairs brought about by the wonderful crops with which this country has been blessed.

We have in round numbers, taking the co-reals combined, nine hundred and fourteen million bushels more than last year. this gives us an exportable surplus of two hundred and twenty-five million bushels of wheat, and, in addition, a large quantity of corn. Now turn to En-rope and observe the conditions there. With the exception of England (and she is obliged to import one hundred and forty million bushels wheat annually more than she grows) every wheat producing country there is largely defiwheat producing country there is largely defi-cient in its harvest, and it is estimated that at least two hundred and fifty million bushels of wheat will be required to cover the shortage. Last year the European rye crop (upon which the poorer classes in such countries as Russia, Germany and Austria subsist) amounted to ten hundred and forty millions, while this September, 36% a 96%; December, 100%. No. 2 wheat— year the yield will not be over six hundred and forty millions. That the deficiencies abroad country with a large surplus of wheat Europe The movement of grain at interior points has been very heavy, the receipts showing an increase of 65 per cent over last year. The immediate effect of this is seen in the increased earnings of several railroads, whose statements have lately been published, and suggests some idea of what may be expected in the future, when the movement becomes more general. Another promising feature, in fact the most encouraging sign that has yet appeared, is the announcement that a consignment of $2,500,000 gold has been engaged for shipment to this country from the continent.

Taking the situation as a whole it is certainly favorable to an ultimately higher range of values, but there are several things on the surface which may retard for the time being any further pronounced upward movement and which it will be well not to lose sight of. Union Pacific's affairs still continue to be somewhat tangled, rumors of a receiver, to-gether with a statement that the collaterals held against an uncanceled loan had been thrown on the market by a bank which became impatient at the delay in taking the loan up, have caused that stock to be looked upon again with a little suspicion both at home and abroad. Another thing to be watched is the statements issued by the Bank of England as having a bearing on the future conditions of affairs across the water. This week's statement shows that the proportion of reserve to liability has declined from 45.77 last week to 45.28 this has declined from 45.77 hast week to 45.28 this week, and that the decrease in the reserve for that period amounted to 4395,000. These figures in themselves have no especial significance, as the reserve is still slightly above last year, but it should not be forgotten that the old country will soon be called upon to disgorge a large amount of the gold which she so ruthlessly took from us, and when that happens-her reserves will naturally decrease. In view of reserves will naturally decrease. In view of this, the lienk of England sgovernors are likely to advance their rate of discount soon, which will naturally have the effect of making money will naturally have the effect of making money dearer abroad and consequently more difficult for the foreigners to carry our stocks, which at present they have a good supply of. The factor, however, of more importance than any other at the present time, as it is the one calculated to do the most mischief if developed, is the cold weather in the northwest, which seems to be moving in several directions and which may yet do serious injury to some portions of the corr do serious injury to some portions of the corn crop, as it will be two or three weeks before all corn will be two or three weeks before all corn will be out of danger from frost. As before stated, the situation as a whole has a promising look for the future. But while these somewhat uncertain factors are hovering over the market it will be well to move cautiously, and when good profits make their appearance it will be advisable to secure them. The market is likely to show more activity from you on expectally as the leading "bear". from now on, especially as the leading "bear" will soon be home to take a hand in the game. Good opportunities, therefore, will be afforded for quick turns.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Sept. 5. - A horrible story of a double murder reached here last night must turn to us. Europeans have not been a educated to eat our corn, and it has been a matter of comment that our government has never taken any active stops to bring about that result. However, with the large existing shortages abroad, corn will have to be accepted for food, and once the experiment is tried it is not likely to be relinquished, as corn is much more nutritious than either wheat or rye.

The movement of grain at interior points has been very heavy, the receipts showing an increase of 65 per cent over last year. The immediate effect of this is seen in the increased earnings of several railroads, whose statements aust turn to us. Europeans have not been from Livingston, Overton county, about fifty dered. The game began promptly at 2 e'clock. Murphy went to first on balls, McGuire fouled out to Lehane and Sutcliffe lined out a single to left, sending Murphy to second. Curtis' high hit dropped safely in right and advanced each man a base, filling the circuit. Murphy and Sutcliffe scored on McCauley's single over second. Dowd hit to Wheelock, who threw home wildly to head off Curtis and two runs came in. Hatfield's sacrifice, pitcher to first, sent Dowd to third. Duffy put a small ball to Cassian, which he picked up in good time. He was confused, however, by Lehane's crying: "Throw to second!" The runner was safe, but there was a large-sized kick. Dowd distinguished himself by officiating in a great double play, making a wonderful catch of Sneed's fly near the right line and throwing to second in time to put O'Rourke out.

The contention for the defense was that the

The prosecution, however, asserted that the articles were outrageous in their distortion of facts and that they were likely seriously to affect the government's position with regard to the people, and that the articles, in fact, could properly be regarded as treasonable.

NORE BOOM NEEDED.

In a letter to the Commissioners today Judge Kimball of the Police Court forwards a proposition, made by the owner of the building adjoining the Police Court, to lease one-half of same to the District for Police Court purposes. In his letter Judge Kimball says that the present accommodations for holding the essions of the non-jury court are entirely inadequate for that purpose. The room now occupied is a small room on the second floor of the Webster law building, with very little ventilation, with no accommodations for members of the bar and witnesses who are compelled to be in attendance upon the trials. During the winter months, he says, it will be much worse. Under these conditions the judge recommends the leasing of the Webster law building and requests the Commissioners to urge Congress to make an appropriation to cover the expenses incident thereto in the urgency deficiency bill.
